Introducing Tinergy

Tinergy's origins trace back to its inception as a construction company based in China. What started as a modest endeavour gradually transformed into a remarkable journey of growth and expansion.

Over time, our vision evolved beyond conventional construction. We recognised the pressing need for sustainable green energy solutions to address the environmental challenges facing our world. With this realisation, Tinergy embarked on a transformative path. We shifted our focus towards integrating renewable energy into our projects, investments and technology developments, aligning our work with the urgent global imperative to combat climate change and promote sustainability.

Our Vision

Moving into 2025, we see Tinergy involving in 20% of renewable projects across Singapore, Vietnam, Indonesia, Australia, Thailand, and Cambodia as our Tier 1 countries, and the rest of APAC as Tier 2. Coupled with our Asset Management arm, we would possess an AUM of more than USD 1 billion. We believe we can only fulfil this with high standards, corporate integrity, technology innovations, and a clear intent of building a sustainable world, one project at a time.

Our ESG Framework

Tinergy deploys ESG as a comprehensive set of performance indicators and measurement metrics. These measurements enable us (internally), along with our partners and investors, to gain deeper insights into our commitment to profitability, while balancing the driving forces behind our operations, as well as the material risks and opportunities associated with sustainability.

Value Creation Strategy and Its Impact

Our calculation shows long-term cost reduction, productivity, new revenue streams, access to Government resources, and new capital access.

Our Sustainability Journey

Throughout our journey, we've witnessed significant value creation spanning every facet of our business. This success has bolstered our confidence to extend our operations from China into the wider Asia Pacific region. Moreover, striking a balance between profitability and sustainability has not only opened up new avenues for growth but has also enhanced our reputation and fostered a more conducive work environment. This positive cyclical effect serves as a clear indicator that we are moving in the right direction.
